A Well-Tailored Man

Can put up the front necessary to succeed, but the man who has a seedy or "hand-me-down" appearance won't get far, for he will not inspire confidence. We put the necessary "class" into all our garments, so that none need look twice to recognize the well-tailored man—if he's wearing a suit or overcoat made by us. There is a subtle element of superiority which is apparent at once—just in the fit and style of the garment, and an attractive feature of our work is that we do not "hold you up" as to prices. Come in and let us show you the goods and prices.

Caring for the Blind

Sir Edgar Bowring has again proven his interest in Newfoundland by generously offering Waterford Bridge Hall as a building devoted to the care and training of the blind. Mr. John Weir has been for some time working on the proposition that Newfoundland should look after its blind, and has collected statistics showing the necessity of so doing. Those who are afflicted with blindness may become self-supporting citizens and it is indeed a Christian and patriotic work to do all in our power to bring this about. The Halifax School for the Blind, which has been so useful to some of our people, and which is aided by a Government grant, and St. Dunstan's in England, are two outstanding institutions that all know well. The present Government have been considering Mr. John Weir's proposals and we understand, they are very favourably disposed. The gift of a building by Sir Edgar Bowring will doubtless mean that the work can proceed, as perhaps the greatest initial difficulty was the expense of a suitable building.

We hope that the project will take shape rapidly so that the hope which has filled the hearts of the many blind in the Island may be realized.

OUR TIMBER RESOURCES

We are glad to learn that there is a great hope that work at Grand Falls may be resumed very shortly. Not only has the strike affected the workman, but supplies of paper have practically been shut off, and newspapers have been forced to use the product of other countries, and product of other labour than our own. In this connection we endorse what has been said about the employment of local labor in any pulp or timber proposition.

We are now permitting the export of timber, in an unmanufactured state, the main idea being to provide labour for our own people, and if anything can be done to secure the labour on this work for our own people it should be done.

A message from Bishop's Falls, given in this issue, tells of damage to the A. E. Reed plant of over one hundred thousand dollars, which will interrupt operations for some weeks. We trust that both these concerns will shortly be working at full pressure.

EXPORT OF TIMBER

The Legislative Council has amended the Exportation of Timber Bill, giving the Governor in Council discretionary power with regard to export to the United States.

It was felt that as the United States has put on a discriminatory tariff against Newfoundland, we, on our part should not permit the free export of our timber to the United States. Canada prohibits export of timber to the United States. In our case, however, it is left to the Governor in Council to decide whether it is in the interests of the Colony at any time to permit export of timber to the United States. The ideal way out, of course, would be a reciprocity agreement between the two countries, under which our fish would be freed from excessive duty entering the States, and the States would get our timber.

IT AFFECTS CANADA

Showing how the U. S. Fordney Tariff Bill has affected Canada, we reprint an editorial from the Halifax Herald, which proves that the cattle industry in Canada is facing a very serious proposition.

(Halifax Herald)

The first six months of 1920 witnessed severe declines in prices of farm products consequent on the curtailment of exports says the current issue of The Agricultural Gazette, discussing the effect of the Fordney Emergency Bill on Canadian farm exports. During the war and for some time subsequent thereto all classes of food supplies were eagerly gathered up at competitive prices in order to satisfy the insistent demand that then existed. The situation is now reversed. A world shortage may still exist, as is claimed, in meat, wheat and dairy produce, but because of the decreased purchasing power of European currencies, with the consequent inability of countries overseas to pay for the products of this continent, the demand has fallen off, and with its relaxation increasing quantities of food products have been released for home consumption.

The Government of the United States in an attempt to afford relief for the American farmer will seek to exclude by means of a tariff barrier the surplus products of Canadian farms. Canada is, therefore, brought face to face with the necessity of immediately readjusting itself in a new situation. This it has had to do before when the channels of trade on which it had become accustomed to depend were blocked. The backing-up process and the local overflow which may ensue is adding to the feeling of depression and uncertainty prevailing in the farming industry. This may and doubtless will be a temporary condition.

While prices of food commodities have been the first to seriously decline, it is probable that they will likewise be among the first to recover. The deflation in prices will not end with food, but must extend to all commodities and service; and machinery, clothing and other necessities, which are still hovering near maximum prices, must in the end adjust themselves to the situation.

The question of market prospects is the outstanding one presenting itself to the Canadian farmer. To the live-stock men in particular, the question is vital.

They are confronted with a duty of 25 per cent. on all cattle entering the United States, other than those intended for breeding purposes. Whether this means exclusion or not remains to be seen. Our cattle are in request in the meat-packing industry of that country, and may continue to be in demand, as Canada is the readiest source from which to supplement the decreasing domestic supply of that country.

Present events have once again emphasized the fact that to rely unduly on the market to the south is to place ourselves in a vulnerable position. We cannot afford to be caught with the short end of the stick whenever the United States Congress deems it expedient to deny admittance to our produce. We must seek alternative outlets and, if possible, more stable ones.

In this connection it is instructive to note that renewal has recently taken place, of shipments of Canadian live stock to the United Kingdom. The reopening of that market at the present time is a matter of prime importance to Canadian cattlemen. It is, however, a market for cattle on the hoof, which we must share on a competitive basis with the United States. The Canadian Live Stock Comurers which are instructive at the present time as indicating the course of Canada's export trade in live cattle over a period of years. Previous to 1911 Great Britain took 90 per cent of our exports of live cattle and the United States only ten per cent. During the period 1890-1906 the business with Great Britain increased in volume from 67,000 head to 164,000 head. From that year it declined until in 1911 it had dropped to 113,795. In 1912, only 48,000 were exported to Great Britain, and since then the trade has been merely nominal.

In 1914, shipments to the United States increased greatly in volume amounting to 206,446. This was maintained until 1919 when an increase took place of nearly 50 per cent. In the fiscal year 1919-20 exports of live cattle to the United States reached their maximum, or 502,588 head of a total exportation of 18,352. Since that time the decline has been rapid, and is still continuing.

DISASTROUS FIRES DESTROY TOWNS AND TIMBER IN N.S. AND N.B.

NEW HAVEN IS DESTROYED

Canadian Schooner Can Land Fish Cargo in Boston --- Northcliffe Gets Cold Shoulder at British Embassy

HALIFAX, N.S., July 28.—Disastrous forest fires destroying homes and doing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage to cut and standing timber, visited Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to-day. The hamlet of New Haven on Cape Breton Coast, sixty miles from Sydney, was reported destroyed by fire and inhabitants were rescued with difficulty in motor boats and revenue cutters. Fire swept down wooden coast and for time threatened Neil's Harbor. Thirteen million feet of cut timber at Fraser Companies Yards at Nelson, N.B., were burned with a number of Company houses. The fire burned down one dwelling and threatened the whole town of Springhill Mines N.S., and another conflagration cut a wide swath through valuable timber near Oxford, N.S., there was nearly a panic in Neil's Harbor, a village of five hundred, when tremendous fire approached and took hold of neighboring Hamlet of New Haven, boats were despatched from Sydney to rescue some four hundred people, reported in early advices trapped between burning wall of forest and sea, and suffering from smoke. Latest word is that New Haven was in process of destruction, but population had been rescued and fire was diminishing in violence.

BOSTON, Mass., July 28.—In accordance with orders received from Washington late to-day, Canadian fishing schooner "Helen McLain" was allowed to land her catch of 77 sword fish at Boston pier. Port authorities earlier in day had refused such permission because of revocation on July 15 of war time privilege, accord ships of British registry to market their catch in United States ports. Advices from Washington said that as long as Helen McLain was on fishing grounds when the privilege was revoked, she should be exempt.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Lord Northcliffe, British publisher now in United States, in statement issued here to-night said that "for reason of which he is not aware" invitations extended him to stop at British Embassy and to attend dinner here to-night had been withdrawn. "Knowing methods in India of Lord Curzon, British Foreign Secretary" the statement declared, "Lord Northcliffe is pretty certain that Lord Curzon has adopted those methods here." British Embassy was in semi darkness to-night, and inquiries from newspaper reporters as to facts connected with cancellation of Lord Northcliffe's visit elicited no response beyond mere statement that there was nothing to be said in behalf of Embassy or Ambassador.

FIGHTING HER OWN DESTINY

CHAPTER VIII.

There were rare gems of the old masters, and the finest works of modern painters; the art gems in the gallery alone were worth a king's ransom. Was it any wonder that the bright eyes dilated and the beautiful face flushed proudly?

"All mine," she repeated; "and, I, too, belong to this grand, chivalrous old race. The same blood flows in my veins as was in theirs. May I prove worthy of the name I bear!"

She was too much engrossed in her own thoughts and day-dreams to listen to the artistic conversation that was proceeding between Lady Farnshaw and Miss Templeton, who talked in learned style of masters past and present. Presently the party went to the library, which was said to contain some of the choicest literary gems in England, and afterward visited the sunny rooms that looked toward the west—the suite of apartments set aside for the use of visitors.

Here Mr. Clements left them to hold a long conversation on business matters with Mr. Dunscombe, and the ladies went to examine what was perhaps one of the greatest curiosities at Crown Leighton—the enormous wardrobe, containing the treasures in silk, satins, velvets, and price less lace that had belonged to former Ladies Charnleigh. There were jewel-cases filled with precious stones, old-fashioned in setting, and almost priceless in value. Miss Templeton looked until she declared her eyes ached, and she could look no longer.

"This," said the housekeeper, opening the door of a small room, "was the late earl's favorite apartment; he preferred it to any other."

Lady Charnleigh wondered why. It was not very cheerful, nor was it luxurious. Just at that moment the western sunbeams filled it, and they fell on a picture of such great and vivid beauty that she was startled by it.

It was the portrait of a young man; but the face struck her as no other face had ever done. She could have imagined Sir Lancelot had such a one, or any of her favorite heroes; it was dark, grand, passionate, and noble, with a melancholy, patrician beauty words could never paint; the eyes were dark and dreamy, with fire and passion in their depths; the brow was a square, Grecian one, with clustering hair brushed from it; the lips were firmly closed and grave, yet with lines round them that spoke of smiles sweet and gracious as a woman's; the whole face gave the idea of veiled passion and sleeping strength, or magnificent manhood not yet fully developed.

Leonie, Lady Charnleigh, stood almost motionless before this picture; its dark, passionate beauty encharmed her. There was nothing about it to denote whom it represented. She turned to Mrs. Pearson, who stood ready to answer any questions that might be asked.

"What picture is that?" she inquired.

There was a half-reluctant expression on the housekeeper's face as she replied.

"It is the portrait of a relative of the late earl's."

The young countess looked at it again.

"But who is it? Is he living? What is his name?"

"It is Captain Paul Fleming; he is an officer in the army," was the reply, still reluctantly given.

"Captain Paul Fleming?"

She looked again at the handsome face. This was the man, then, who but for her would have been Earl of Charnleigh, whom she had unconsciously and innocently deprived of this princely inheritance. She looked with additional interest at the beautiful face.

"He is very handsome," she said to herself, gently. "He would have made a noble earl."

Even as she said the words she was conscious that the housekeeper's eyes were fixed with some curiosity on her face, and she turned abruptly away.

Many times that evening her thoughts went back to that splendid face, worthy of Velasquez. But on the day following she found no more time for dreaming. Her table was covered with cards; the drawing-gallery alone was worth a king's room was never without visitors. Full tide of life had set in, and Leonie, Countess of Charnleigh, was to find herself famous.

CHAPTER IX.

THE sun was shining brilliantly over the blue sea and the white rocks of Malta. The day was warm and sultry, the air heavy with the scent of flowers and the odor of the talked in learned style of masters past and present. Presently the party went to the library, which was said to contain some of the choicest literary gems in England, and afterward visited the sunny rooms that looked toward the west—the suite of apartments set aside for the use of visitors.

He could not have spoken more proudly of them. I would live so as to do honor to them. I would make a good and noble use of the vast wealth entrusted to me. But if they are not to be mine, I cheerfully forget them."

"I am not such a philosopher," confessed the major. "If I know there was a chance that fortune might one day make me Earl of Charnleigh, I should be almost crazy with suspense. Has the inquiry terminated yet?"

"Yes: I expect every day to hear the decision. Mr. Clements wrote to me last week, and said that the number of—shall I call them claimants to the estate?—was limited to three, and that I was one."

"Knowing that, Paul, how can you be so cool, so calm, so indifferent?"

"Neither heat, nor hurry, nor agitation will do me any good. When a man has stood where I have stood, with shot and shell falling around him—death and imminent danger on all sides—it would be strange if he had not learned how to face a difficulty or wait while a doubt is settled."

"Well, from my heart I wish you success. I hope I may greet you one day as Lord Charnleigh, of Crown Leighton. Jest apart, they will not find one more worthy of the name."

"Than you," said Captain Fleming, gravely. "A noble name should make a noble man."

Then they sat for some minutes in silence. Major St. John amusing himself by throwing small stones from the rock into the sea. Captain Fleming looking with a far-off, dreamy gaze at the heaving waters and the sapphire sky. Suddenly Major St. John broke the silence that seemed to have enfolded them.

"General Sir Huntley Dacre understands how to give a good ball. I never remember a better entertainment in Malta than that or last night."

Paul Fleming made no reply; the subject evidently did not interest him.

"How beautiful la-belle Etheldreda grows! I admired her exceedingly last evening."

"She is a lovely girl," said Paul, rousing himself; "it seems a pity that youth and beauty like hers should be buried here."

"The general is sure to return to England, and when he does that young lady will create a furor. If I, for instance, had any idea of asking her to marry me, I should do so at once." And Major St. John looked curiously at the calm, handsome face.

"That would doubtless prove a wise precaution," said the captain, carelessly. "I am not a great believer in the felicity of either love or marriage."

"Then you are no soldier," was the quick reply; "next to glory, a soldier values love."

"It may be that I have no actual experience," laughed Paul Fleming. "I have imagined to myself a kind of ideal woman, but I have never met anyone like her."

"That's all very well. I prefer the real myself," returned the major. "I should have imagined, for example, that la-belle Ethel was infinitely superior to any ideal that you or I could imagine."

"She is a very beautiful girl," remarked the major. "I can read passion, genius, fire-power, in her face. Do you know," questioned he, abruptly, "I fancied there was some little tenderness between you and Miss Dacre?"

"I never care to discuss such matters," said Paul calmly.

"That is to say, you will not boast of 'good fortune.'"

"I have none to boast of; and, if I had, there is honor in love, I suppose, as well as in warfare."

"We all noticed Miss Dacre's bouquet of white rosebuds," continued Major St. John; "and could not help seeing that, when you left the ball-room, you carried one of them in your coat."

"There is nothing in that. Miss Dacre gave it to me because I admired them."

BRITISH SCHOONER NOT ALLOWED TO LAND FISH CARGO

BOSTON REFUSES FISH

U.S. May Declare Shipping War.

BRITISH SCHOONER NOT PERMITTED TO LAND FISH.

BOSTON, July 28.—The British fishing schooner, Heleh McLain, arriving here to-day with a catch of swordfish, was not allowed to land its cargo. A vacation on July 15 of the war time permit to British vessels to market their catches at United States ports was given as the reason.

HOPE IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, July 28.—A more hopeful feeling prevailed here today concerning the solution of the Irish problem, and belief was expressed that although the path to peace might be longer than at first anticipated, a settlement eventually would be reached. The truce will be continued. It was authoritatively stated here to-day that De Valera had not made application to the Government for release of members of the Irish Republican Parliament, who are in prison, and that, altho their release would not occur without their immediate intention of summoning a Republican Parliament, it was learned. Members of the Republican Cabinet, who were asked to-day as to the reasons for delay in summoning the Parliament, replied that to summon it or to ask for the release of imprisoned members to attend it, would imply that the situation had reached a more advanced stage than had been attained. They said it would imply that definite proposals for acceptance or rejection by the Republican Parliament were available.

RIGA, July 28.—Noticeable decrease in the spread of Cholera during the past fortnight are reported in the Moscow Pravda. The newspaper says that the total registrations of suffering from the disease since the beginning of the year, were approximately 35,000, a considerable increase over the previous announcement, but the newspaper says this is due to delay in filing papers, most of which were for June.

LAKESIDE LOCALS

Four more days are left for the crews to practice, and then the big event.

An unusual sight was witnessed on the lake Wednesday evening, when eight crews were on the pond at the same time, showing that enthusiasm is not lacking in this year's regatta. It was very difficult to get the stop watches to agree during the week, owing to so many crews being on the pond at the same time, whilst several coxswains have a fashion of going below the buoy at the bottom of the pond.

The Nello R. and Blue Peter Amateurs rowed very well on Tuesday evening and were admired by everyone. The Guard's Amateurs made the best time on Tuesday. The Cadet Amateurs had a spin Wednesday night, and rowed the course in 10-28.

The Avalon Boat Club were present in large numbers on Wednesday evening when the Blue Peter was once again placed on the lake. Mr. P. F. Collins the energetic President of the C.C.C. Boat Club was amongst those present at the ceremony and congratulated the Club, and wished them every success in their new venture. The C. L. B. C. Band was also present whilst the large gathering gave the Peter an enthusiastic send off, when the Amateurs took her over the course which they covered in 10-24. Experienced oarsmen say the Blue Peter is even in better condition than when first she graced the lake, and all are looking forward to seeing her get a share of races.

The Blue Peter's Trade crew made very good time in the Doctor, Tuesday evening, also the Guard's trade whilst the Nello D's trade crew rowed the course Wednesday evening in 10-30. Betting is still strong on the Peter for first place.

In the football race we only got the C. C. C. time in their usual twilight row 10-57 on Tuesday evening.

Knowing's Mercantile crew rowed the course Wednesday morning in good time. Marshall Brothers crew are certainly doing good work.

The Cold Storage labourers have the best time for the season 9-56. Wednesday evening Cadet labourers time was 10-08.

men are practising every evening. Day.

The Outer Cove crew are not practising this week owing to the death of rangements for the necessary sailing. Mr. John Power who died suddenly, at the head of the lake. At The Broad Cove men will be out this evening for their first practice.

The Navy crew in the Guard are ant part of the course, are no, be still the favorites but the Army crew big attended to, and it is hoped very close, there was some betting President Higgins and Mr. P. F. Collins in the Blue Peter are running them this will bring this matter up at the on the Guards crew last evening for night's meeting.

The C. C. C. Band are giving a concert on the North Side of the lake this evening and will play from the roof of the C.C.C. Boat Club house. The Band Stand has been erected but is too late for the season. It is hoped the Committee will have it erected when the boats start to practice next year, for where could the public spend more enjoyable evenings, than by the side of Quidi Vidi Lake.

The Factory crews are practising very hard, the Imperial rowed the course in 10-30 and Reids Factory were 10-30 Wednesday night, but we feel confident that Harvey's two can do better.

Juvenile crews are out every evening they get. At present we can't give anything definite as all the coxswains are very reticent over the time.

It is good to see Phil Brown on the lake once more, but he will have to work harder this year than 1920 as greater.

The Blue Peter's Amateurs were the favorites in the betting at the head of the lake last evening.

The Pond Committee should arrange to have the buoys at the bottom of the lake placed in position as it will make the coxswains more familiar with the turning for Regatta for Wednesday next.

Soviets May Take Over Old Russian Debt

Turks Have Not Approached Allies--Dublin Holds Out Hope

SOVIET GOVT. TO ACKNOWLEDGE THE RUSSIAN DEBT.

COPENHAGEN, July 28.—Rumours are in circulation in Reval, says a despatch to the Politiken from the Estonian capital to-day, that as an extreme measure, in the effect to secure help in the present crisis in Russia, Nikolai Lenin has proposed to the Soviets acknowledgement of the national debt, which the Bolsheviks cancelled after the revolution. The proposed payment of interest and capital would not be begun before 1925.

LONDON, July 28.—The report that the Turks have approached the Allies, with the purpose of obtaining a cessation of hostilities between them and the Greeks, is unfounded, according to information received in official circles here. This information substantiates the fact that there have been Greek victories in Asia Minor, but it minimises the moral effect they have had upon the Turks. It is said that the Turkish withdrawal was executed skilfully, and with but small losses in men and supplies.

Cubs Beat B.I.S.

A large attendance of fans witnessed the B.I.S. go down to defeat at the hands of the Cubs, with a score of 7 to 3.

The Cubs were handicapped by having some of their best men laid on through illness, and every effort was made to have the game postponed but this was found impossible so the Cubs were obliged to use some new material which came up to expectations.

The game on the whole ranks amongst the best for the season, both teams playing good ball, and at the conclusion of seven innings the score was equal. The eight however turned the tables, and starting with an error on the part of Keefe, the Cubs got their opponents, well up in the air, and four of their team were brought across the plate before the innings finished. The ninth brought no results for the Irish, and the game concluded with Cubs 7 B. I. S. 3. O'Leary and Joe Murphy were the Cub's batteries, and both pitched a good ball, whilst Messrs. Cheaman and Harnett were umpires, and C. Merriam official scorer. The following was the game by innings:

DUBLIN, July 28.—The next move in the Irish situation is likely to be another meeting in Ireland between Sir James Craig and Eamon De Valera. It is stated on good authority. It was somewhat difficult to arrange for this proposed meeting, but, according to the informant, "They have got over the fence."

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, FRIDAY, JULY 29th, 1921.

AT THE HOUSE

The House of Assembly met at 3.15 yesterday. After some questions had been answered, the Select Committee report on Bell Island Ore contract was taken up and the Bill was put through all its stages in its original form.

MR. HIGGINS said as a signatory to the report recommending the adoption of the Bill as it stood, the Committee found itself in the position that although not being in favor of some of the clauses of the Bill, it had to recommend its acceptance on account of the circumstances which both Company and country found themselves in at the present time. The value to the country is not so much, the export duty to be collected as the amount of employment to be given. The committee now finds it self in the position that this Bill was the best that could be done. The Company took the position that if they had to make the same contract to-day they would absolutely refuse to make it. If, said the Company, there is to be a revision it must be a reduction in the tax. All sides of the question had been discussed with the company and he could assure the House that the Bill was the best that could be done. As far as the way the contract was entered into he still had his opinions about that. The contract being finalized then, last September, the company took the position the circumstances had altered very much since that time and they did not intend to permit its alteration except in their favour.

HON. MR. WARREN endorsed what Mr. Higgins had said that the Bill was the best that could be done under existing conditions.

MR. BENNETT said he also had to subscribe to what Mr. Higgins had said. It was an unfortunate thing that the Colony had to accept this agreement. But after giving due consideration of existing conditions he found the company unwilling to do anything else but force the contract. If the contract doesn't go through, then the Companies will close down absolutely. Under the old contract Ore exported to Nova Scotia was taxed 7 1-2 cents per ton. Under the new contract it was taxed 25 cents. Ore exported to foreign countries under the old contract 7 1-2 cents, under the new contract 10 cents. The reason for this was because the Company was looking for new capital in Great Britain to establish there a smelting plant and if the tax were increased there could be no chance of procuring capital. In fact capitalists in the Old Country wanted it free. If new developments were to be encouraged the capitalists in the Old Country had also to be encouraged. Hence the Companies' object for asking for a reduction on the ore being shipped to the Old Country and to foreign countries.

Sir M. P. Cashin, Mr. Archibald and Mr. Walsh also spoke on the measure signifying their purpose to vote for the Bill. The House then went into Supply and the estimates for the Department of Justice were passed. The even tenor of the debate was interrupted by the arrival of the 'Telegram' which contained a letter from the manager of the Atlantic Fisheries criticising members of the Opposition especially Mr. Bennett, for their remarks in relation to cold storage fish and haddock. Consequently Sir M. P. Cashin, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Walsh and Sir John Crosbie spoke on the matter, insisting that either the 'Telegram' or the writer of the letter apologize for its language towards a member of the House.

During the debate on Supply, the Attorney-General informed the House that as the policemen had not received the increase in wages given other civil servants a year or so ago, their salaries would not now be reduced, a fact which was received with approbation by the whole House.

A message from the Legislative Council in reply to one sent from the Assembly re money Bills was read and the House will take cognizance of it to-day. In brief the Legislative Council points out that under the Act of 1917, a Bill is a money Bill when it is designated as such by the Speaker of the House of Assembly. The House Adjourned until to-day.

May Delay New Tariff Law

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Pressure of the Harding Administration and some of the Senate Leaders to force Tax Revision Legislation ahead of the Tariff Revision may delay the enactment of the New Tariff Law until next winter.

DUBLIN, July 28.—An air of unusual optimism prevailed in Dublin to-day. Eamonn DeValera, Republican Leader, had an informal meeting with some of his colleagues, after which it was confidently stated that a communication from Mr. De Valera to Premier Lloyd George might be expected soon upon proposed basis of conference. It was also declared that another meeting between DeValera and Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, was imminent and that acceptable solution of financial difficulties had been found in shape of Ireland's assuming portion of national war debt. The Dublin Evening Herald understands that matters of tremendous importance were discussed by Dail Eireann Cabinet, Wednesday, and that stage of discussions was passed and a fateful and happy decision reached.

The number of competitors in Class IV (150 words per minute) was not sufficient to warrant the issue of a medal in this class. This drop in Class IV is occasioned probably by the discontinuance of the Gold Medal, formerly awarded in this section. It is now proposed to re-institute the solid gold medal, but the speed will be raised to 200 words per minute. The highest speed attained by a Sloan-Duployan Society member during the past year is 309 words per minute, written at a public test in Wallisall, England, by Mr. Arnold. Achievement is incalculable, according to experts.

AT THE CITY HALL

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Commission was held yesterday afternoon. Chairman Morris presided. Commissioners Vimcombe, Jackman, Peet and Collier were present.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed, after which the following matters were given attention: Communication of Deputy Minister of Public Works, asking attention be given O'Dwyer's Bridge, was referred to the Road Inspector.

Inspector General Hutchings wrote regarding storage of lumber near Commercial Cable's Office. Copy of same will be forwarded the Supt. of the Company.

Communications of Walter Gosse, Plymouth Road, asking the attention be given sidewalk etc., and that of M. W. Myrick with regard to roller being installed on the premises of the Empire Laundry, Kings Road, were referred to the Engineer.

Health Officer Brehm reported on the application of L. Walsh, Lime Street, and D. Munn, Topsail Road for permission to erect stables, and recommended permits be given the application, provided they conform to regulations and install sanitary appliances.

The Hon. Secretary Regatta Committee requested attention be given to the margin of Quidi Vidi Lake. The Sanitary Supervisor is to be instructed to attend to same.

The application of Soo Lee & Co., to extend their Laundry at the junction of Rennie's Mill and Monkstown Roads was given reconsideration, and on the recommendation of the Inspector General permission will be given for the said extension, provided certain conditions are carried out.

Communications were read from A. Marshall and L. J. Harnum, re the laying of concrete curb and gutter. Military Road. Action was deferred pending reply from the other residents who were notified.

Requisition of Inspectors for uniforms was acceded to.

The following plans were approved:—P. Noseworthy, Pennywall Road, after noon. Chairman Morris presided. Commissioners Vimcombe, Jackman, Peet and Collier were present.

It was ordered Parade Ground from Fort Townsend Property to Parade Street be made passable for the Fire Department, who use this thoroughfare in responding to calls on the Higher Levels.

AT THE COUNCIL

The Legislative Council met yesterday and disposed of much business. The Exportation of Timber Bill was amended to leave the power of granting export to the United States in the hands of the Governor in Council. The debate on the Railway Bill will probably take place this afternoon when it comes up for the second reading.

The Fisheries Supplies Bill was sent to a Select Committee consisting of Hon. G. Shea, Mr. P. T. McGrath, Steer, Anderson and Mews, who will probably report this afternoon.

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockvale Ave., Toronto.

OBITUARY

(To the Editor)

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your paper to record the death of William J. Hillier, who passed away on June 29th, 1921. He leaves to mourn his sad loss a father, mother, two sisters and a large number of relatives and friends. He was laid to rest in the C. of E. cemetery on June 30th, the service being performed by the Rev. Kirby and the School Master. He was a member of the S. U. F.

He is gone but not forgotten. Never will his memory fade. Loving thoughts will always linger 'Round the grave where he is laid.

We saw him suffer hour by hour. It caused us bitter grief. We saw him pass away from us. And could not give relief.

Silently, the shades of evening Gather round our lonely door. Silently we bring before us His kind face we'll see no more.

Father dry these tears of sorrow, Sisters do not be downcast, Mother, cheer up, do not be weeping. We shall meet him at the last.

JOSEPH GLOVER.

Deer Island,

July 3rd, 1921.

(To the Editor)

Dear Mr. Editor,—Will you kindly permit in your highly esteemed paper to record the death of our dear cousin, Joseph Glover, who passed to the great beyond June 5th, at the age of 33 years. He was just in the bloom of life, and was about one of the most strongest men on our shore. But we know that in the midst of life we are in death. Before sickness took place he was preparing for the summer voyage. He was sick about three weeks when he had to leave all and pass to the unseen world. He is missed by all who knew him. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. R. Baggs, who took his text from first Samuel 20th Chapter, last part of the 3rd verse—"There is but a step between me and death." He leaves to mourn a dear wife, five children, father, three sisters, three brothers, besides relatives and friends.

May the Great Burden Bearer sustain them in their hours of trouble. We hope to meet him in that land.

Proper Manners

"Will you please tell me if it is proper to hold corn in the fingers when eating it from the cob," asked Miriam.

"Yes, corn is eaten held with the fingers and it is perfectly correct to eat olives, salted nuts, radishes and small pickles with the fingers," replied her mother.

Boys and Girls

Care should be taken not to allow a baby to go to sleep with its ear bent under its head and the practice of pulling a baby's ear should be discouraged. If the ears grow big one cannot help that and no artifice will make them smaller. Luckily most babies have small ears, as the ear is the only organ that continues to grow all through life.

Avoid carrying a baby on your arm in such a way that its ear is bent outward. When laying the baby down for its nap be sure its ear is laid flat on the side that the baby is to lie on. So generally has the importance of this matter of ear training come to be recognized that many stores carrying baby's clothes have caps, made in skeleton form for coolness, which will flatten the ears against the baby's head when it sleeps. Usually a baby's ears lie close to their head, but if they show a tendency to stand out these caps will remedy the matter.

The Woes of Mrs. Newlywed

"This rug is full of moths and I don't know what to do about it," complained Mrs. Newlywed.

"Your strong alum water 'on the floor a foot and a half from the edge of the rug, also sprinkle salt on it when sweeping," advised Mrs. Neighbor.

Health Hints

Many people find it difficult to swallow a dose of castor oil. One of the best and simplest ways that Nurse has ever tried to give it to a patient, is to first heat a cup by pouring boiling water into it. As soon as the cup is hot pour out the water and immediately put in the dose of oil. You can then swallow it without trouble.

A splendid way to tempt an invalid to eat an egg is to coddle it. It is nourishing and very easy to digest. This is the way to prepare them: Wash the egg or eggs clean and place in boiling water. Cover the dish tight as possible with a clean cloth, and then cover it with a cover and let it stand for five minutes if the eggs are liked quite soft, and ten minutes if it is liked a little harder. Then remove the egg or, if you wish, eat it with a spoon from the shell.

Masonic Grand Lodge Is Busy

Ontario Masonic Body. Opens Proceedings With 1,600 Delegates.

OTTAWA, July 20.—Business at high pressure was transacted by the board of general purposes of the Grand Lodge A.F. and A.M. in the province of Ontario, at the Masonic Temple here yesterday in preparation for the 66th annual communication of the Grand Lodge, which opens in the Collegiate Institute Wednesday morning, when over 1,000 delegates from all parts of Ontario will be present.

Reports were presented from various committees and passed upon or amended for presentation to Grand Lodge tomorrow. There were also some important decisions reached. One of the most interesting acts of the Board of General Purposes was to sanction a grant of $1,000 for the purpose of erecting a monument to the late Most Worshipful Brother Mercer Wilson, at Simcoe. The late brother was the first Grand Master of Grand Lodge and died some seventy-five years ago. The district where the monument will be erected is known as Wilson District in Welland county.

Another interesting decision was the allowing of $25,000 as the estimated expenditure for benevolence in Ontario next year. This the greatest amount set aside for such purpose since Masonry was founded in the province. It exceeds by over $10,000 that used for such purposes last year. In addition to this amount there will be estimated expenditure of $15,000 by various individual lodges in their local fraternal work. The money is used for the widows and orphans of Masons and incapacitated Masons themselves.

FLYING BOATS MAY PASS OVER CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., July 15.—Permits have been granted by the Canadian Air Board for the passage through Canada of half a dozen aeroplanes, flying boats which are being taken from New York to Detroit by a company operating an aerial service in the United States. The only waterway by which these machines can be flown from New York to Detroit is via Montreal and Belleville, and in order to fly the boats across Canadian territory the owners must secure permits from the Air Board.

The boats, while they are allowed to fly across Canada, are not allowed to pick up passengers at Canadian points, though this was granted when the Santa Maria was allowed to fly through.

2. The Government undertakes and agrees that for the period of twenty years, commencing the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and extending to and including the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty, it shall permit the exportation of iron ore by the Companies to any part of the world other than the Dominion of Canada, free from any duty, tax or other imposition, subject to the following provisions:

(a) First, that the Companies during the period of five years, commencing the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six, shall expend in the Colony of Newfoundland the total sum of three million dollars, of which not less than five hundred thousand dollars shall be expended in any one year, until the final three million dollars have been expended. The said moneys shall be expended in improvements and extension of plant and equipment and in the development of the mines at Bell Island, and if the grant of the water power situate at or near Colinet shall be made to The Dominion Iron and Steel Company as provided for in Section six (6) hereof, and if the Government shall request the Companies to build a coal depot at Saint John's as provided for in Section nine (9) hereof, the sums spent thereon before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six may be included in the said expenditure of three million dollars. In the event of the said Companies not performing this condition and making the said expenditure on or before the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, the Government shall have the right at any time thereafter, up and until the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty, to collect upon all iron ore exported to parts of the world other than the Province of Nova Scotia, a maximum export tax of ten cents per ton of 2,240 pounds, and to make the said tax retroactive to the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-one; provided always, and it is hereby agreed, that no default shall be deemed to have arisen if the Companies, having failed to expend five hundred thousand dollars in any one year, have nevertheless made a total expenditure of three million dollars as hereinbefore provided on or before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six.

(b) Second, that if on or before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six, the Companies shall not have given to the Government, through its Colonial Secretary, notice in writing of their intention to proceed with the erection and construction in the Colony of Newfoundland of a plant and accessories for the smelting of iron ore, capable of producing one hundred thousand tons of pig iron per year, the Government shall have the right at any time thereafter to collect upon all iron ore thereafter exported to any part of the world other than Nova Scotia, a maximum duty of ten cents per ton of 2,240 pounds.

(c) Third, that if the Companies shall not on or before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, have erected or caused to be erected, at some convenient point in the Colony of Newfoundland, a plant and accessories for the smelting of iron ore, capable of producing one hundred thousand tons of pig iron per year, the Government shall have the right at any time thereafter to collect upon all ore exported to parts of the world other than the province of Nova Scotia, a maximum duty of ten cents per ton of 2,240 pounds, and to make the said tax retroactive to the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six.

(d) If at any time after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six, the Companies shall give to the Government, through the Colonial Secretary, notice in writing of their intention to proceed with the erection and construction in the Colony of Newfoundland of a plant and accessories for the smelting of iron ore as provided in sub-section (c) of this section, the Government shall permit the Companies to export ore to any part of the world other than the Dominion of Canada, free from duty, and on compliance with the further conditions set forth in section three (3), to the Dominion of Canada, other than the Province of Nova Scotia, for a period of two years next immediately after the receipt of such notice; provided however, if the said smelting plant is not erected at the termination of the said period, the Government shall have the right to collect ten cents per ton of 2,240 pounds on all ore exported to any part of the world except the Province of Nova Scotia, from the date of the receipt of the said notice to December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and forty.

3. The Government undertakes and agrees that for the period of twenty years commencing on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and extending to and including the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty, it shall permit the exportation of iron ore by the Companies to places in Canada other than the Province of Nova Scotia, free from any duty, tax or other imposition, in any one calendar year that the shipments of iron ore from Newfoundland to Nova Scotia amount to a total of one million tons. In the event of the said shipments to Nova Scotia in any one calendar year being less than one million tons, the Companies shall pay a tax of twenty-five cents per ton of 2,240 pounds upon each ton shipped to places in Canada other than Nova Scotia, until any shortage in the one million tons mentioned has been made up. This undertaking is also conditional upon the performance of the provisos and conditions on the part of the Company set out and contained in section two (2) of this agreement.

4. The Government undertakes and agrees that during the continuance of this agreement, all materials imported for the construction and erection of the proposed smelting plant, coke ovens and other accessories, and all materials (including coal) that may be used for the manufacture of coke, pig iron or steel, shall be admitted into Newfoundland free of duty, tax, or other imposition; provided, however, that tools be not admitted duty free except such tools as are specially used and peculiarly adapted to the manufacture of coke, pig iron, or steel.

5. The Government undertakes and agrees that during the continuance of this agreement, the said Companies shall be exempt from the payment of Business Profits Tax, War Income Tax, and from any future tax of a similar character, and as to municipal or local board taxation, the Companies shall be exempt from such taxation for the period of ten years from the date of this agreement, and thereafter the maximum taxation for such municipal or local board purposes shall not exceed the sum of ten thousand dollars in any one year during the continuance of this agreement.

6. The Government agrees, if it is within its power to do so, to grant, subject to forfeiture for non-performance of any of the conditions of this section, and also subject to Chapter 129 of the Consolidated Statutes (Third Series) and amendments thereof, to the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, Limited, upon its application, the water power rights situated at or near Colinet, Rocky River, St. Mary's Bay, such grant to provide that the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, Limited, shall have the period of three years from the date of said grant to commence the development of said water power rights, and shall have a further two years to complete the same and shall pay to the Government the sum of twenty-five cents per horse power developed per annum.

7. The Companies hereby agree that on and after the erection of the smelting plant hereinbefore referred to, they will, in each and every year during the balance of the term of this agreement, operate the said plant to its capacity. If the Companies fail to so operate the said smelting plant for a period of one year, the Companies shall thereafter pay to the Government a duty of ten cents per ton on every ton of ore exported to all parts of the world except the Dominion of Canada, and on compliance with the provisions of section one (1), three (3) and eight (8) hereof, the Companies shall pay a tax of ten cents per ton of 2,240 pounds on all ore exported to the Dominion of Canada; provided, however, that if the Companies resume operations as aforesaid, they shall, during any period while so fully operating, be permitted to export ore free of duty to all parts of the world, except to the Dominion of Canada, and on compliance with the provisions of sections one (1), three (3), and eight (8) hereof, they shall be permitted to export ore free of duty to the Dominion of Canada.

8. The Companies hereby agree to pay to the Government the sum of twenty-five cents per ton of 2,240 pounds on iron ore exported to the Province of Nova Scotia from the Colony of Newfoundland from the first day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, until the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty. Such payment shall be made by the Companies to the Sub-Collector or other Officer of Customs at Bell Island, quarterly on the fifteenth days of January, April, July, and October in each year, upon and in respect of all ore shipped during the three months ending on the last day of the month preceding the respective dates above mentioned. The Companies also hereby agree to pay to the Government on the fifteenth day of January in each year all such other sums as may become due and payable under this agreement for the preceding calendar year.

9. The Companies hereby agree that they will provide at Sydney, North Sydney, or Louisburg, in the Province of Nova Scotia, for sale and shipment, a sufficient quantity of coal to meet the requirements of the operation of the Newfoundland Railway, whether operated by a Company or a Commission, including steamers and docks, the requirements of the Reid Newfoundland Company generally, and the domestic requirements of Newfoundland, including manufacturing plants consuming not over three thousand tons per annum (it being understood that the Companies will make their own contracts for manufacturing plants consuming more than three thousand tons per annum), and will accept in payment therefor the free on board prices per ton current from time to time on coal of similar quality sold for shipment to Nova Scotia ports by the Companies, and that the Companies at their own expense will establish a coal depot at St. John's, if the Government shall so request, to meet the reasonable requirements of the port and city of St. John's.

10. The Companies hereby agree to abide by and perform the requirements of any laws passed by the Legislature of Newfoundland dealing with the settlement of labour disputes in the Colony.

11. The Companies agree that if requested by the Government they will provide suitable workmen's houses at or near their mines at Wabana or other suitable locality on Bell Island, and to submit the plans of such houses to the Government Engineer for approval, and that these houses shall be built for the purpose of sale to their employees for a reasonable cash payment and the balance in such monthly payments over the term of twenty years as will return cost and interest.

12. This Agreement shall not come into effect until it is approved and ratified by the Legislature of the Colony of Newfoundland and by the Board of Directors of The Dominion Iron and Steel Company, Limited, and by the Board of Directors of The Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, Limited.

13. In the event of this Agreement being ratified by all the parties hereto it is understood and agreed that the provisions of this Agreement shall apply to the Companies, executing and ratifying it, their respective successors and assigns, and also to any companies with which they become merged or associated.

14. It is understood and agreed that the Companies shall pay to the Government the sum of twenty-five cents per ton of 2,240 pounds on each ton of iron ore exported from Bell Island to the Province of Nova Scotia during the year nineteen hundred and twenty.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF His Excellency the Governor-in-Council has caused the Great Seal of the Colony of Newfoundland to be set hereunto and has signed these presents, and the Companies have caused their Common Seal to be affixed hereunto and these presents to be signed by their Presidents and Secretaries thereunto duly authorized.

FINDINGS

Day . By . Day

(BY J. R. SMALLWOOD)

"English Catholic," a Smith's Sound, T.B., correspondent, writing in this morning's News, gives me a mild castigation on account of some comment made in this column on the 22nd on the subject of the House of Lords passing the bill allowing a man to marry his deceased brother's widow.

After half admitting that, on secular subjects, my "findings" may be "absolutely correct"—and I thank him for it—my Smith's Sound friend proceeds to "find" that I implied betrayal of principle on the part of the venerable Anglican Church, seeing that I surmised that the Church had withdrawn its long opposition to the bill.

"Sacrifice principles," are the words he uses as being what I accused the Church of. He declares that the Church does not sacrifice principles. I agree with him, and should be sorry to have to think that she did. The Church that sacrifices principles has gone far, far beyond the teachings of Christ. But, friend, a church may change principles, or supercede old principles with new and later-discovered ones.

I wonder if the following proposal would help out the country?

It is in regard to farming and cattle raising. I propose that it would be a good idea for the fishermen of the different settlements to cultivate the land by common effort. Or, in other words, that they apply to the land the principle of the Fishermen's Protective Union co-operation and mutual aid.

We know how it is at present. Individual fishermen do their best to raise a little crop of potatoes, some cabbage etc., between whistles. Often it is the wife or the children who do what little farming is done. Also, the land is apportioned out in little lots, broken up and surrounded by stone hedges, etc. The land is good in spots. The man who has a fairly good piece of land can raise better crops. The man who has a poor piece of land does not get such good results.

By reason of these causes the yield of potatoes, cabbage, etc., in the average outport is far below what it might be. This country should not have to import one solitary potato or one head of cabbage. And yet it is impracticable for the fishermen to go into agriculture on any greater scale than now, except at the cost of the fishery, and that is out of the question. What to do then?

Community farming. Pick out the best land, or collection of small gardens, and remove fences, rocks, trees, etc., getting as big a farm as possible. Pick out as many men as needed to run that farm for the summer. Let them, for that summer, drop fishing, and attend entirely to the farm. Let them do the harvesting, the digging etc. Then, when the crops are out of the ground, call a meeting of the settlement and appoint and apportioning or distributive committee. Let each family head place before the committee his requirements in the farm products line, and let the committee distribute them with an individual families and the supply.

The next summer, let half of the men who were farming last summer prosecute the fishery, as usual, and fill their places with new men. The idea of keeping half the number is to preserve, and so carry on, the knowledge they gain.

The same thing could be done in wood cutting in the summer. The

$120,000 WAS LOSS AT BISHOP'S FALLS

PAPER MILL WILL RESUME FEW WEEKS TIME

Special BISHOP'S FALLS, July 28.—One hundred and twenty thousand dollars' loss was what yesterday's fire cost the A. E. Reed Company of this place, when their big paper plant was practically destroyed. This loss is covered by fire insurance.

The conflagration was caused by a spark from the mill chimney. The cutting up room and slasher room were totally destroyed, the wood room partially burnt out and other roofwork damaged. Most of the cutting up and barking drum machinery was destroyed.

The mill has, of course, been put out of commission, as far as work or operations are concerned. The company states, however, that operations will go on again in a few weeks.

A Very Interesting Book

The book which Mr. Jas. J. Noonan is issuing this year is very interesting. It gives details of Regatta 1873 to 1920, covering a period of 43 years and we promise the readers of its interest and pleasure combined.

men of the community could be divided into cutters, haulers, drivers, sawyers and splitters, and in that way the whole settlement's fuel supply for the summer could be obtained at the least trouble and exertion. The horses or ponies used in hauling wood, caplin, etc., could be kept in conjunction with the community farm, and cared for by the farm, and would soon constitute an important adjunct of it. Care in breeding and rearing could then be exercised, and in that way the tone of cattle and livestock could be raised over all the country.

This is the age of specialization. Look where you will, the fisherman who is also a farmer is poor off. The man who does well is he who goes into one or the other, and specializes in it. That is the idea of community farming. You would have men who would soon be specially trained in farming, and the result would be that very much more crop would be raised in the same place. The man who tries to do a little bit of farming between whistles certainly is not going to raise any crop.

This country should be raising vastly more agricultural products than she is. The total value of agricultural products for last year was $19,500,000. It should be $50,000,000.

With this specialized labor, increased science, improved and extended land, improved seed, and machinery, which community farming would mean, this could be done.

Drowned Men Were From Cape Breton

(Halifax Herald.)

A press despatch appearing in The Herald of Friday stated that the two members of the crew of the steamer Thomas J. Drummond, Captain Davies, who were drowned at Quebec, were Newfoundlanders, but private notices later gave the names of the unfortunate men as Samuel Cahill, of Sydney, and Peter Young, of North Sydney.

Cahill, who was about 2 years of age, was a former member of the 25th Battalion and during the war was the D.C.M. He was unmarried and survived by his mother and several brothers and sisters.

The bodies had not been recovered up to Saturday, as will be seen by the following telegram of that date from Quebec: "Drummond sailed at noon today master and chief of police to report immediately in event of bodies being recovered. Owing to local conditions impossible to make direct search. Under normal circumstances bodies usually re-appear in a few days."

AN INHUMAN BRUTE, FATHER OF THE CHILD ESCAPES WITH PALTRY FINE OF $100.00

While Unfortunate Girl Is Sent With Her Baby to the Penitentiary For Vagrancy.

Mother of an illegitimate infant, penniless, friendless and vagrant, yet daughter of a man who is worth from $30,000 to $40,000, a girl appeared before the Central District Court this morning on a charge of "vagrancy."

Her baby was with her. She could offer no defense and had to be sent to the common jail until and unless, some charitably-disposed person should wish to interest himself in the case.

"This unfortunate girl is the daughter of a man who is worth between $30,000 and $40,000," declared Inspector General C. H. Hutchings. Because of her unfortunate fall he refuses to take her back with him to his home unless she abandons her child.

"The only way she can abandon it is to leave it on the street, as she has no means to place it with anyone to look after it."

She applied to the Commissioner of Public Charities to look after the child, the Inspector General said, but nothing could be done by him. "We have had to take her in at the lock-up the past two nights, as she has nowhere to go."

"I cannot find words strong enough to express my contempt for the unnatural father of this girl," I. G. Hutchings exclaimed. "He wants to separate her from her own flesh and blood. I have tried to get some of those people who have done so much shouting in other cases, to take upon this case deserving of their blood charity, but they have refused to come to the front."

"This is the saddest case that has come before me," Judge Frank Morris said. "The unfortunate girl has fallen and has the infliction that she cannot speak plainly. The Inspector General, who knows the pecuniary circumstances of the father, has justly characterized his conduct as inhuman."

"This poor girl has been before me three times. She has applied to the Poor Commissioner's office and outside of $2 a month, nothing could be done for her. I affiliated the father, of the child and he paid the $100 that the law imposes, and that was paid to the Poor Commissioner and he paid it into the Treasury."

"Only for the kindness of the Inspector General and of the officers at the lock-up this child would have died and perhaps the mother also."

There is nothing for me to do but to send her to the Penitentiary. Some charitably disposed person may take the matter up and I will put the girl under bonds, although I know they will not be found, and if any one comes along to look after her, she can be released from the Penitentiary."

The Inspector General, in the course of his remarks, paid sincere tribute to an unnamed lady who took this girl in her home the first night she was on the street, and kept her for a week in spite of her own circumstances.

Father Not Liable To Support Infant. The father of the unfortunate girl is not liable in law to support his daughter's infant, according to Judge Morris' decision of Wednesday morning, when he was up, charged with non-support of the baby.

Judge Morris said that the Poor Commissioner would have to do it and sent the girl to him. It was understood, however, that for lack of regular authorization, the Poor Commissioner did not do so.

The position is now that the girl's father is liable to support her, but not her infant. She cannot abandon her child except in the literal sense of the word, and this she will not do. The father of the infant is not liable for its support, or its mother's support. He paid his $100 and is now clear of all responsibility.
